SENATOR O'CONNELL FIGHTS FOR LEGALITY OF MAJORITY FIGHT

DORCHESTER LEADER FORORS PLAN TO NAME CANDIDATE

O'Connell Forces Push Campaign in City; Collins, Son of Former Mayor, Resigns From Free-for-All

By BERNARD J. DORERTY

Senator Joseph P. Finnegan, minority leader of the upper branch of the legislature, will not enter the race for mayor.

Finnegan, who was on the verge of taking out nomination papers last Thursday, has decided that he can best serve the Democracy by continuing to aid the movement to line up support for the strongest candidate either already in the field, to be drafted later through substitution.

LAUDS AMERICAN POLL. The secret postcard poll being conducted by the Boston Evening American and the Boston Sunday Advertiser in favor of the strongest Democrat was praised unreservedly today by the senator.

"The 'Hearst papers,' he said, 'have entered a vote of thanks for undertaking this service in the interest of good government for Boston. It is evoking tremendous interest because the people know that it is on the level. It's value is tremendous not only to the candidates, but to the voters and taxpayers.'

Nine of the principal majority candidates will bid for the endorsement of the Young Democrats of Boston at a mass meeting to be held in Faneuil Hall next Thursday night. This organization, of which Gerard D. Reilly, a young attorney or Dorchester, is president, is affiliated with the Young Democrats of Massachusetts, of which Frank Reel is the head.

It was organized during the last Presidential campaign and has no connection with the Young Men's Democratic Association of Boston, which last July organized for the purpose of supporting the candidacy of former Congressman Joseph P. O'Connell.

Most of the original members of the Young Democrats of Boston were attending Harvard College at the time that the organization came into being.

Pope Tells Cardinal World Should Learn to Forego Luxury

Vatican City, Sept. 23 (AP)—The hope that the lessons of the crisis will not soon be forgotten by the peoples of the world was expressed by Pope Pius today in an audience with Cardinal O'Connell of Boston.

The Pontiff said he sincerely trusts the people of the future will be more careful to preserve the fruits of prosperity, with all luxury, and will accustom them to pay as they go.

Pope Pius commented this following the Cardinal's observations that the depression seemed to have brought religion home to the American people as never before.

Following the audience, which lasted an hour, the Cardinal said the Pope discussed an astonishing knowledge of the economic conditions in the United States, but also of the monetary situation.

Cardinal O'Connell gave the most startling evidence of the growth of the Catholic population and activities in Boston. More than 125 new parishes were established during his tenure, he said, and there are now 120,000 Catholics in the city.

Many new high schools and several colleges have been built, he said.

Cardinal O'Connell informed his Holiness that eight different races were living harmoniously in Boston and asserted that the Massachusetts city and other American municipalities were responding with unemployment relief such as never before in American history. His Holiness found the Pope extremely busy, with his calendar full for the day, but the Pontiff told the American that he was feeling fit and not at all tired by the added duties of the Holy Year.

HIS BEST ADVICE

The Pope was quoted as saying that he is stimulated by the large pilgrimages to Vatican City. Cardinal O'Connell was invited to accompany Pius to the Basilica of St. Mary Major on Oct. 11, when the Pontiff makes his final Holy Year visit, in order to obtain plenary indulgence. The cardinal, however, will sail for home before that date.

The Cardinal presented to the Holy Monsignor Joseph P. Finnegan, head of the Holy Year Office of the Holy Year, Father Joseph Miller on the occasion of the hall and instructed him to carry on the work.

Buy a September and Buy American—3000 Gallons Cider Starts Court Fight

Worcester, Sept. 23.—Otto Danneburg, 33, of Middlewood, 25, J. was arrested today on a warrant charging him with the sale of 3000 gallons of cider delivered by Superior Court in $10,000 bail.

The charge was the result of the New Jersey State's alleged failure to pay for 3000 gallons of cider delivered by Herbert A. Taylor, of Middlebury. The letter claim he was given a $5000 check, but it came back marked "No Funds." He has been seeking Danneburg and his two partners for some time.

With police still baffled by circumstances of his murder, an inquest into the death of John E. ("Trucker") O'Rourke, West Roxbury rum racketeer, will be held at Taunton tomorrow before Judge Frederick E. Austin.

O'Rourke was found shot to death in Easton on Labor Day and authorities have unsuccessfully sought to place the crime in Boston. One of the new theories is that he was killed in Waton or East Norton during a blackmailing dispute.

Buy a September and Buy American—"Bless You," Wires Hoot to Eloping Sally Eilers

By LOUELLA G. PARSONS
Universal Service Motion Picture Editor

Hollywood, Sept. 23.—Sally Eilers, an obtained—secret divorces from Hol Gibson, in Mexico, last month, was married in Yuma, yesterday, to Harry Joe Brown, screen director.

So carefully did Sally and Harry hide their plans that only the party accompanying them in the plane had any inkling of the coming marriage.

The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace E. A. Freeman, in the presence of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lyon (Babe Daniels), Mr. and Mrs. Al Jolson, and the Martin and Lewis. Ralph Murphy, Marian Smith, and Dr. and Mrs. Harry W. Martin, who live from Hollywood with the bride and groom, were guests of honor at the wedding.

No element in years has caused as much comment. Sally, who has been much in the company of Jimmie Dunn, her screen lover in so many Fox romances, stated after her divorce from Hol Gibson that she would not marry again, but would devote all her time to her career. A shipboard meeting was the start of the new romance. Miss Eilers sailed with the De France for a holiday to London to get some special access for a Paramount production, Sally and Harry saw a great deal of each other in London.

The bride and groom returned to Hollywood last night and went immediately to the Beach House of Harry Joe Brown. They were there, with the English tennis players, were guests of honor at a buffet supper.

From Yuma Miss Eilers and Brown were married. "I am married to Harry Joe Brown. We have just been best wishes. (Signed) Sally and Harry Joe." "You have my best wishes for your happiness. I love you both."

No honeymoon is possible now as Brown is busy on a picture.

LEGIONER AT GEORGE OF WAR PERILS

Premier of Norway as Head of Council

Voices Fears

Geneva, Sept. 23 (AP)—A warning by Premier Johan Mowinckel of Norway that a possibility of war hangs menacingly over the world stirred the League of Nations assembly today at its opening session.

Mowinckel is president of the league council. He said: "Fifteen years after the close of that fratricidal crime, the great war, we find to our shame that we have made little progress toward a better understanding."

On the contrary, the thought of war and the possibility of war are ever present, hanging over us as a constant menace."

MEXICAN DEFEATED

Another surprise was the election of Charles to Water, South African member of the assembly. He defeated Francisco Castaneda, president of the League Council.

The delegation arrived with Reichsmilitar Joseph Goebbels in the afternoon. He had had with any of the four League Conferences surrounded by American Ambassadors—Large New York Times and British Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon.

DOLLETS TO SPEAK

Among subjects slated for discussion by the assembly is disarmament, which seemed to be the main topic of the day. The League of Nations is determined to maintain economic and political independence.

Germany to Demand Planes, Tanks, Big Guns

Geneva, Sept. 23 (118)—Germany is going to fight for a specified number of combat airplanes, tanks and heavy guns in return for her disarmament. The League of Nations treaty in which must be written the plan to disarm Germany is being drastically after a "trial stage" of three or four years.

This was learned following a conversation between German Foreign Minister Von Neurath and British Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon.

Chicago, Sept. 23 (AP)—John L. Cerich, Virgil, Ill., charged with the manufacture of a coal-burning automobile he built recently.

He said he had it up to 58 miles an hour on one occasion and that it had a top speed of 60.

It was on this same street some 100 yards from the driver of the Greyhound line that the driver of the Greyhound line was arrested for harboring a fugitive.

On the Advisability of Minding One's Own Business

She does not care what we do with our ancient relic.

Even Sir John Simon has not the stupid effrontery to object to where we locate or what we do with it. So Japan must not mind either.

In fact, we sort of feel that even if we had a good modern navy, fully equipped and fully manned, as Japan has, we would still be privileged to move it to our East coast or our West coast as we saw fit, thereby exercising our will and authority as an independent and not altogether inconsequential nation.

Wherefore, if we had such a good navy and maneuvered it on the East coast, and England objected, we would say with some emphasis that we were entirely within our American rights and that such matters were none of England's business.

And if we had a good modern navy and maneuvered it on our West coast, and Japan objected, we would probably say very much the same thing politely but firmly to Japan.

In fact, we think that nations, like individuals, get along best by minding their own business, and this applies to the United States just as much as to other nations.

If Japan wants to build a navy, big or little, and to barge around off her coasts and possessions with it, that is her business and we register no complaints, file no protests, offer no objections, as long as we are allowed absolutely equal privileges.

And whether we are allowed those privileges or not, we intend to exercise them.

WE know, moreover, that Japan's navy is not going to be a little navy, and is not going to be an ancient out-of-date relic either.

And now that we have an intelligent, patriotic President, we know with deep satisfaction that our navy is no longer going to be antiquated and inadequate.

It is going to be ample and thoroughly up-to-date, and quite equal to the complete defense of our great nation,—and defense is all we want a navy for.

All of these simple propositions and plain facts need not disturb Japan as far as they relate to the United States, nor the United States as far as they relate to Japan, nor any other power, European or Asiatic which is properly intent on minding its own business.

In fact, these circumstances ought to increase mutual respect for one another among nations, and by increasing mutual respect promote mutual friendship.—General Araki and Sir Simple Simon to the contrary notwithstanding.

GUNS GUARDING AMERICANS IN CUBA STRIKE

Sugar Men Find Safety Near Destroyer as Unrest Spreads

Chaparra, Cuba, Sept. 23 (AP)—American officials of the Chaparra sugar mill sought safety today in the yacht club near the American destroyer Hamilton and a British freighter anchored in Puerto Bay as a general strike spread through most of Cuban province.

A small party of United States marines landed Sunday at Puerto Padre to obtain supplies and thereafter returned to the destroyer.

Workers and soldiers stood guard at the Chaparra and Delicias mills and other properties. There was no violence, but strikers cut off the Chaparra Light and Power Co., plunging more than ten towns into darkness. The communications were without water and rail service, and food supplies dwindled alarmingly.

Warships Ready to Take Threatened Americans

Washington, Sept. 23.—Cuban news threatening danger to United States citizens kept officials here on the alert today.

Ambassador Welles telephoned the State Department that violence was being threatened in some sections, but he reported the storming of mine property near Orto by 100 men who shot guns into the air. Troops were sent to quell the disturbance.

Along the coast a number of Americans were reported ready, necessary, to flee in small boats to anchored warships.

Brenden Bracken, M. P. Financial Editor, Says However, That Europe Fails to Understand Our Policy

By BRENDEN BRACKEN
Conservative M. P. and editor of the London Financial News
London, Sept. 25. I believe that inflation is inevitable in the United States.

Bankers may rail against it, some politicians may attempt to dam it with faint praise, but it is coming. Most Europeans are of this opinion and are acting on it by selling their dollar holdings. I feel, therefore, that Europe is having the worst of both worlds. She is suffering from the distressing and disadvantageous effects of inflation without receiving any obvious benefits it can confer upon a country which is suffering under a load of paper debts.

Mr. Roosevelt is told by bankers and others that, if America were to inflate, her currency would be debased. I am sure that this is not so. Inflation is a necessary evil. It is a necessary evil because it is a necessary evil. It is a necessary evil because it is a necessary evil.

Conflicting statements regarding the currency and financial policy of the United States, made by various eminent members of the administration, have created a cloud of doubt in Europe. Happy in Hollywood

With codes of fair competition drawn for all base games except the National Football League, the National Football League today made the "buy now" movement the next step in the recovery program.

The 7000 local NRA units in all parts of the country will be headquarters for the buying now movement, which carried the flag of the buying now movement in the recovery program.

The same house-to-house campaign plan will be followed, it is expected. The appeal will be patriotic, but principal reliance will be placed on the fact that it is in the consumer's interest to buy now while prices are low.

The program was advocated originally by the House Unemployment Committee. The buying campaign already has been launched in many cities. Details of the campaign will be announced this week.

Recovery officials are making every effort to bring their costs as low as possible. They are doing this by securing the lowest possible prices for the goods they are selling. They are also making every effort to bring their costs as low as possible.

In Hollywood where marriages are made to be broken, Sharon Lynn and her husband, Benjamin (Ben) Lincoln, have been married three years, and their romance gives no signs of curdling. They were air pioneers at Yuma, Arizona, Green, and they haven't regretted the air trip which made them one.

FIRST TRAVELER IN AIR EXPRESS STILL FLYING

By ELLIOTT ROOSEVELT
Aviation Editor Boston Evening
American

Sept. 23, 1933. Before Flying America
On Board Western Express Plane,
Heading Los Angeles, Nevada, En
Route to Salt Lake City, Sept. 20—
One hundred thousand Americans can be wrong.

Seven years ago, Benjamin Redman, barely citizen of Utah, bought a ticket from the Western Air Express at Los Angeles, climbed into an open cockpit of a lumbering biplane, and became passenger Number One on America's first airline.

Today, as we fly northward, with mountains and the desert in sight, I carry in my pocket ticket Number 100,000, of this veteran airline.

A lot of territory has passed beneath the planes of western air express in those seven years, and a lot of aviation history has been made by this company and the others who followed where they led.

PIONEER BACK AGAIN
The courageous Mr. Redman is with us on this trip riding again as passenger No. 100,000, and in the cockpit of the big sky liner again sits "Jimmy" James, the pilot, who flew Mr. Redman and a cargo of mail from Los Angeles to Salt Lake City May 23, 1926.

But what a difference. Redman sits in a comfortable arm chair instead of being perched on top of a parachute. He wears a smile instead of a do-or-die look behind goggles that blinded him and a helmet that choked him—and he is having a good time as mountains parade under us.

PILOT HAS RECORD TOO
I don't know how many miles Mr. Redman has flown since that first desperate ride behind a blasting Liberty motor, but they tell me that "Jimmy" James has flown some 200,000 miles and the passengers between Mr. Redman and this writer had covered a total of 35,187,114 miles—and without an accident.

You certainly can't go wrong with a record like that. In a few hours we will cross the mountain chain around Salt Lake and come to a landing at the great airport of this city, to make what the Western Air Express statisticians say will be the 23,322nd flight of this company's planes.

Every few minutes Pilot James talks with airports and dispatchers all along the route.

If this flight happened to be at night, brilliant beacons scattered every 10 miles would guide us on our way and every third or fifth beacon we'd see outlined like an embroidery on black velvet, emergency landing fields.

At the end of the line, where we soon will be taxiing toward the comfortable station from which radiate air lines north, south, east and west, there will be a number of public-spirited citizens—many of them pioneers in this line, to welcome the plane and express to the officials of the western air express, riding in another section of this flight, their appreciation for placing Salt Lake on the airline map of America.

TRIO ESCAPE IN PLANE CRASH

Hamden, Ct., Sept. 23.—A pilot and his two boy passengers escaped death or serious injury as the airplane they were in nosed over after it was landed in a swamp in the Winchester Repeating Arms Co. powder farm.

John S. Curtis, 20, of New Haven, the pilot, said he brought the plane down in the swamp after his motor stopped two miles from the Hamden airport. The trio were thrown into the water as the plane turned over.

The plane came to rest within 100 feet of a powder magazine, police said. Curtis and Edmund Root, 14, his cousin of Holyoke, Mass., were taken from the swamp in a rowboat by persons who saw the plane come down.

N. Y. Welfare Fund
Set at 10 Millions

New York, Sept. 23.—Solomon Lowenstein, chairman of the executive body of the welfare council committee on unemployment, notified city officials today that $10,000,000 a month would be the minimum relief needs here during the winter.

Unless the municipal relief budget is increased to that figure from $6,500,000, he said, suffering would be widespread.

Pittsburgh Attorney for Murder Trial

Santa Cruz, Cal., Sept. 23.—John Duggan, Jr., Pittsburgh attorney, has arrived here to aid the defense of Miss Wilhelmine Weitz, 45-year-old nurse, charged with fatally shooting Francis J. M. Grace, retired capitalist.

Duggan, who was retained by Miss Weitz's relatives of Connetquot, Pa., conferred with the accused woman and her Santa Cruz attorney, Stanford G. Smith.

"Execution" Cell Horrors No Joke to Prisoner

Plymouth, Sept. 23.—Frank Grove of Milford st., Boston, today looked forward with more or less apathy to his court arraignment on a charge of drunkenness.

Such a statement might seem strange, but in view of Frank's awakening in a police cell here it rings of the truth.

"To Be Executed Tonight," was a sign that hung in his cell. Frank's cries of distress brought Patrolman William Gault to the cell. The prisoner was on the verge of hysterics and demanding to know of what grave crime he had been guilty.

The sign, it was explained, was carried in the NRA parade last week and had to do with an offer of "Old Man Depression." The presence in Grove's cell was the result of a playful policeman.

for Loans on Homes

Washington, Sept. 23.—The Home Loan Bank board has announced a total credit of $177,875,696 is available to the 16th member institutions of the Federal Home Loan Bank system.

Twenty-six new memberships have been approved.

Concord, N. H., Sept. 23.—The marriage of Dr. Alfred E. Stearns, until recently headmaster of Phillips Andover Academy, Andover, Mass., to Miss Grace Clemens here Saturday has been made public.

The ceremony was performed by Bishop John T. Dallas of the Episcopal diocese of New Hampshire and the witnesses were former Governor and Mrs. Stanley N. Spaulding of Rochester.

Police are investigating a number of week-end breaks in stores and homes in different parts of the city.

In the majority of the breaks the thieves failed to steal actual cash. In most cases they were content to take whatever was available. The loot includes candy, cigars, cigarettes, beer, radios, clothing, shoes and jewelry.

One arrest has been made. John Deering of McLean st., West End, is being held as a suspicious person in connection with the theft of 119 pairs of shoes from a West End store. He was found carrying five pairs of shoes and police say they found 23 more pairs in his home.

MR. CHARLIE MUNN IS ONE OF THE BEST looking Americans in London, if we can believe the nightingale who nightly sings in Berkeley Square . . . however, that little bird qualifies it by saying his good looks are very ENGLISH.

He is tall, with a strong face and intelligent forehead, under which steady, clear eyes look at you . . . he is very popular in England (naturally, he must have plenty of pounds, shillings and pence) and his intimates are to be found among the smart set . . . for example, the Sutherlands, the Adrian families and the Blandfords . . . Mr. Munn threw the must have thrown it because news of it landed away over on this side of the Big Pond, one of the largest parties, not only of this season but of years, in England recently . . . it was held at the White City Stadium . . . a super-party with 60,000 of the public there to watch . . . (The E. N. O. relates that the White Stadium is a sort of Coney Island amusement place where all manner of amusing and entertaining stunts and side shows are performed.)

The party was actually given for Mr. Munn's two attractive daughters, Frances and Mary . . . they both inherit their father's gracious charm, we are told . . . While distinctly American, their exuberance is controlled and they are very popular with the young set over there . . .

Among the noted guests at the party were Miss Penelope Dudley Ward, a debutante of similar year . . . Lady Dalkeith . . . Mrs. James Beck, a popular London hostess, and no party would be quite complete without Lady Cunard and Lady Diana Cooper . . . altogether, Mr. Munn's party exceeded the advance publicity which was given to it . . . Come on, ye debutantes, Reverse Beach is calling you!

James A. Nelsons Sail for Europe

GLIMPSED MR. AND MRS. JAMES A. NELSON of Chestnut Hill waving a fond good-bye to their charming daughter, Miss Grace, from the top deck of the Saturnia yesterday . . . the Nelsons will travel on the continent for a couple of months and return to their shores for Christmas . . . Miss Nelson's new fall costume was of fair blue with a touch of white, which accentuated her shining fair hair . . .

Also sailing on the Saturnia was Miss Marjorie Saltonstall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Saltonstall of Milton, and Miss Marie LeMayne, daughter of Mrs. Henry Lee of Beverly Farms, and Miss Elizabeth Butler, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Storer Butler of Newbury . . . these maidens will spend the winter at school in Florence.

Mr. and Mrs. August Belmont (Betty Saltonstall) of New York have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. John Saltonstall at "Huntwick," the country estate of Mrs. Belmont's father, in Topfield . . .

Mrs. Curtis Gould has returned from a season at Nahant as has been her yearly custom, and her friends are pleased to hear that she is much improved in health . . .

First of Fall Fashion Shows Tomorrow

THE RITZ-CARLTON will be the scene of smart society on Tuesday at lunch time when the first fall fashion show by Hickey will delight the Fair Things . . . the gentle art of being beautiful will concern the young set for the next month as they spend days in the beauty salons to get rid of some of that summer tan and shop around for the right clothes for all occasions . . . invitations are coming in very fast and October will be a gay month . . .

A two-generation tennis tournament was played recently at Myopia Club at Hamilton . . . most of the players were mothers and daughters. Among those playing were Mrs. Bayard Tuckman, Jr., and her daughter, Phyllis; Mrs. Bayard Warren and her daughter, Camilla; Mrs. William Endicott and Miss Lily Warren; Miss Eleonora Sears and Miss Katherine Winthrop; Mrs. George W. Wightman and Miss Serita Bartlett; Mrs. John S. Lawrence and daughter, Isabel; Mrs. Robert W. Knowles and daughter, Anne; Mrs. Alvin F. Serwell and daughter, Elsie; Mrs. Louis Agassiz Shaw and Mrs. Henry F. Lippitt; Mrs. Edward McNichol and Miss Nancy Shaw, and Miss Anne Howard and Miss Alice Thorndike . . .

Finals were played by Mrs. Wightman and Miss Bartlett against Mrs. John Lawrence and Miss Lawrence, resulting in the latter winning.

Mrs. Eliot Wadsworth Returns

MR. AND MRS. ELIOT WADSWORTH and their family have been guests at Villa Lattina on Eastern Point with Mrs. T. Russell Sullivan for the past few weeks . . . Mrs. Wadsworth left during the week for Northeast Harbor but has returned and was noted in the gay throng at a recent first night in town . . .

The One Well Richardson have come back to town after a season at Magnolia . . . Miss Catherine Richardson, fair daughter of the house, will make her debut this winter . . . Miss Ann will leave for Vassar this week . . . the son of the family, "Pete," will continue his studies at Milton Academy . . .

'the social whirl' . .

By Dorothy Whipple Fry

STRANGELY ENOUGH THAT most attractive of outfit, "tweed," is exceedingly difficult to wear. There is nothing so smart and striking as a good looking tweed ensemble, but if the right person, but it is a horror if worn wrongly. If Misses be wise she will study herself to determine if she be the "Tweed Type." She must be young to wear tweed, and must be slim even in a slim mode, she must be sophisticated but not exotic. She must have that air of detachment that enabled her to wear a noticeable thing unobtrusively.

Miss Alice Burgess, per example, that smart young lady who is identified with the Junior League, acting for two years as secretary, and spending much of her time at Zane Marborough at looks surprisingly well in tweed. She wears them to perfection. She is tall and slim and a touch blonde and in that tawny blue tweed outfit she sports a blue jacket, yellow is one of her favorite shades and her velvet hood sports skirt with a navy blue, short-skirted and exceedingly modish, is one of her favorite. She has the autumn in Maine, interesting herself in an antique shoppe she the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Burroughs of Beacon St. and Kingston.

Looking Chic

MISS SHIRLEY REDGE of Goddard Ave., Brookline, and the South Shore, is another attractive young miss whose like and graceful young figure is nicely offset by tweed. Pretty snappy she looks these early fall mornings in her good looking outfit with a navy jacket and skirt. Mrs. F. Ward Paine is looking particularly chic at the moment. We glimpsed her motoring in the Longwood train with her distinguished husband, Mrs. Paine, who is always a picture, being full of fun with merry blue eyes, was wearing one of those gay flowered prints with a ruffy collar that is decidedly in vogue, were ruffle sleeves and arm-brackets.

To return to our theme long "Tweed," we noticed Mrs. Fred Collier looking attractive in a gorgeous dark blue tweed ensemble with a deep collar of gray fox close about her face very striking with her exquisite and delicate coloring.

Mrs. Willis Beal, the former Cecily Livermore—whose wedding created such a stir in North Shore society, circles earlier in the season, is sporting a navy tweed outfit this fall. Her favorite shade is green and we might add with her hazel eyes and dark early hair it is a most attractive shade. Her high green tweed ensemble with a sporty little hat looked in that innuendo way she wears her hair competently over one eye, she is the essence of chic.

Striped Frock

Her charming sister, Miss Gwendolyn Livermore of Topfield, is making her debut this season and from all outward and visible signs she is going to have a gay and festive time. Miss Eliza Bortolotti who made her debut last season is all ready for another year of fun. She is a glamorous looking, is even tall and slender, and has a gorgeous summer tan. She wears red exceptionally well and her hair and white candy striped frock with its huge puffy sleeves is a very tricky piece on her.

Miss Betsy Briggs Is Engaged

The engagement of Miss Betsy Briggs to Mr. Everett Edwin Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. F. Jones of Washington, D. C. which has just been announced by the young lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Richmond Briggs of Commonwealth Ave., will be of interest to society. Miss Briggs who attended Miss May's School, Pine Manor, and was graduated from Kendall Hall, was presented in 1929, her father, who graduated from the University of Oklahoma in 1921, has been attending the Harvard School of Business Administration during the past two years. No date for the wedding has been set.

THE production, "Alice in Wonderland," which is coming in this city on October 20 and will be given a special matinee for the younger folk as well as the evening performance for the special benefit of the Free Hospital for Women, will be one of the social attractions of the coming month.

For one smile on people," says Genevieve, the kitchen cynic, "but most of us have to be satisfied with a good, loud laugh."

And outside of the old-time romances for a Hollywood dinner, nothing more, more than a few official reasons for a laugh & a smile.

And make no mistake, the people who have the most fun are the ones who are the most serious.

Oakes Here to Tell Officials
About New Rules
By AUSTEN LAKE

When Walter Oakes speaks on football rules it is as Jones nodding from Olympus and the small gods of the game swirls their ears to listen. For Oakes, a man with a keen eye for the details of professional football and there is no law but his law. So tonight when he greets some 700 coaches and officials as pupils in the B. A. A.'s antique gymnasium, the boys will stretch their necks to study the scrawls that he makes on his blackboard and listen to his dictums on the knotty problems and fine shadings in the 1933 rules.

He will say, for example, "Suppose team A punts into team B's end zone." And for the better part of half an hour he will lecture on the queer things that can happen in that end zone and what to do about it. And occasionally some earnest pupil will bob up and say, "But suppose this, and that happens?" describing some complicated affair that may have some halfback confining the ball down the back of his pants and decaying the rival team with a cry of lost ball. To which Oakes, with a sad, patient smile, will say, "That is in approved ruling No. 20, Page 13, Section 3. Rule 3. You must read it sometime." For the boys are always trying to snarl the professor in his own tape by digging up odd riddles.

You will learn that football non-pudence is not as simple as it seems. In the naked eye, so that one small time like the forward pass, material for a two-hour lecture in itself. And some time you must get a veteran official like Dr. Eddy O'Brien or Joe Pennington to relate some of the curious things that have happened during their long gridiron careers. As when a halfback accidentally hummed Joe a stiff one in the ribs and caused him to snap an involuntary pre-emptive into his referee's whistle while a player was running for a touchdown, which automatically "killed" the ball where it was when the pre-emptive occurred. And then there is the fact that the ball blew out in midair just after being kicked off. And all a host of other things that would make a lifetime of an official's term for the end of the game, knocked down the goal posts just before a touchdown, and thereby made the try for point an impossibility.

What Oakes Gets a $10,000 Salary for

Oakes answers to the tongue numbing title of Commissioner of the Eastern Intercollegiate Association for the Selection of Football Officials and Chairman of the Rules Committee, though, if he says it at all, it is in the abbreviated form of C. E. I. A. S. F. O. C. R. C. Which is reason enough for the $10,000 salary he draws, even if he did not have to ride herd on some 500 officials and satisfy some 50 colleges.

He is the one-man dictator who came out of the college's dissatisfaction with the old Central Board system of assigning football officials, which was not so much a system as it was an annual free-for-all war between colleges, who would "stab" quarrel in December and caper on into time.

"How about Joe Bonanza for referee?" one coach would say to a rival.

"No chance," Na. That would snarl. "Bonanza called a foul one on me last October. He's no good." And on down the entire official's roster with each of the four men in every game. For each coach has his personal black list on which he had the name of any man who had committed a foul or failed offense. For coaches, like referees and referees never forget. As in the case of Pennsylvania which had Eddy O'Brien, the Boston surgeon, on its black list for nine years, even after the coach who had originally black listed him was long dead. That happened when Dr. Eddy expelled the Penn captain back in 1922 for smacking an Alabama player with his hand. At least the Penn captain said it was his hand, but Eddy stressed the fact that the hand was closed, thus constituting a fist. Which Penn considered a mere technicality, and wired the doctor that his presence in several later games, already assigned, would be welcome. "Because" said the message "referee here is high and we cannot guarantee your safety."

Well, that raised the hair on the doctor's spine and he issued that the Central Board have Penn to honor its own rule. "Or else," he said, "I will retire from the game, and resign." The board, composed of such doughy characters as F. K. Hall of Dartmouth, Walter Cam of Yale, Fred Moore of Harvard, and Bill Rorer of Princeton, made Penn back-track, a loss of face that it did not forgive until two years ago.

Officiating Grows Steadily Harder With the Years

When Oakes was appointed in 1928 the college wanted a hell-for-leather type who would name officials and make the coaches like it, which seemed like an end to all politics, favoritism and what not. But it didn't work. Because the coaches were out such a wopping fellow that in 1929 a compromise was effected in which each college-chief graded each official according to his performance and the average of all the marks determined the man's standing. While most of the coaches were candid, there were still a few who remembered old animosities or had acquired new ones, and still another few who would say "Old Bill Taffy is a lousy official, but he is a dear chap, so what'll," and there was often a discrepancy between the actual measure of a man's work and his marking, which was sometimes offset by Oakes's knowledge of the case.

In late years the business of handling a game has become a matter of increasing nervousness, so that instead of the comparatively simple code of 15 years ago, such flimsy questions as the flying block and the protected fumble, control action, session of the ball, the different phases of the shift and the adoption of the end zone, have introduced a hundred complications. "Here the difference between a touchback, a safety, and a touch down is often a matter of a whisker or a wisp." And Oakes has asked out enough bulletins to his men, containing interpretations of each new oddity, that the accumulations of pamphlets now make quite a sizeable book.

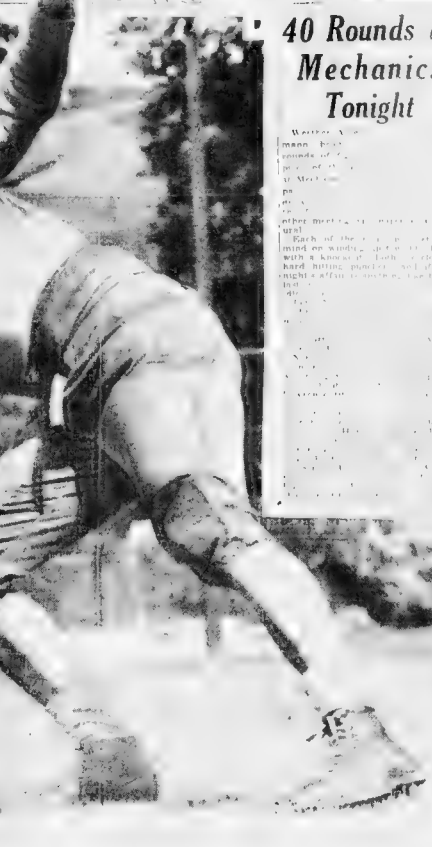

Cochet Bows to Tilden in Paris

Paris Sept. 25 (AP)—William T. Tilden, II, today defeated Henri Cochet in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4, 6-3, to give the United States three matches and victory in a Pan-American professional tennis series. It was the first meeting between the two men. Cochet, since the cup campaign of 1929.

Tilden smothered his old rival with a display of tennis reminiscent of other years, firing his cannonball service and forward drive continuously to keep Cochet continually on the run.
